Property Description

Tucked away down a secluded driveway and enclosed by established woodland, this unique property combines a three-bedroom cottage with three existing static caravan, pitches offering an opportunity to create a home and income in the highly desirable location of the New Forest National Park.

The site's private and peaceful position offers both privacy for the main residence and clear separation for guest accommodation a strong foundation for a buyer looking to create a successful income producing enterprise in an area that benefits from year-round visitor demand.

Income potential with existing planning in place

The property has historically operated as a static caravan site and benefits from established planning permission for three static units. The existing caravans are now at the end of their useful life and present an opportunity for replacement, allowing an incoming purchaser to install modern, higher-spec units to maximise appeal and potential income.

Each pitch offers guest independence with:

- . Its own garden area
- . Dedicated parking

This creates a straightforward pathway to re-establish or reposition the site as a boutique holiday offering in a high-demand tourist area.

Comfortable owner accommodation:

The three-bedroom cottage provides flexible living space with clear scope for modernisation or enhancement (subject to any necessary consents), ideal for:

- . Lifestyle buyers seeking a "live and earn" setup
- . Multi-generational living

Practical, well-equipped site

In addition, the property benefits from two detached garages (ideal for storage, maintenance or workshop use).

Summary

Opportunities to acquire a home with established caravan use in such a sought-after New Forest location are increasingly rare. With planning already in place and clear scope to generate income, this versatile property offers a compelling combination of lifestyle, flexibility, and future potential.
